The government's interpretation of the language test clause of the seamen's act, passed by the last Congress, has been announced by Secretary of the law does not require "the use of he encampment, are in the hands of of officers and crew of any vessel," but that "any language which is underlety of the District of Columbia, and stood in sufficient measure by officers and the proper proportion of the crew will comply."

The requirement that members of the crew shall be able to understand any order given them by their officers is construed as "meaning only such Several other state societies have followed suit.

It is estimated that the society will have as its guests here 300 veterans from West Virginia. The West Virginians have established headquarters at the Powhatan Hotel. The officers of the Department of West Virginia, G. A. R., as well as those of the state society, will have offices in the hotel throughout the week

In conclusion, Secretary Redfield says the language test is understood to re-quire the safeguarding of a vessel "in such a manner as shall be helpful and not hurtful to our maritime commerce and that it is in no sense intended to be used to create embarrassment or to

Spy-eye, siender, blue-black, ridescent-jacketed bluebird, is too suspicious by nature to eat out of the hand. His lack of confidence in humanity makes providing for himself a harder task than for the half-domesticated park squirrel. So he is never too fat and he has always an appetite, and his Hoof and Mouth Epidemic.

CHICAGO, September 25.—A report was forwarded to Washington today by Lucien C. Wheeler, assistant chief of the local bureau of the Department of Justice, denying charges that hog cholera serum made and sold by Chicago manufacturers had caused the recent outbreak of the foot and mouth disease.

The report was prepared by P. L. Hilliard, an investigator in Mr. Wheeler's office, and stated that before selling the serum the manufacturers tested it on a number of hogs, and that no ill-effects resulted from its use.
